The World of Wizardry- Chapter Four

You are Werdna, the evil wizard who once decided to conquer the entire world.

You were busy trying to unlock the secrets of the magical amulet you "acquired" from your nemesis Trebor when an unruly mob of adventurers burst into your inner sanctum and defeated you.

At first they thought you were dead. Foolish mortals. It is most difficult to kill a master of the arcane arts! When the authorites realized that your indestructible body lay in a deep trance, they adapted an ancient subterranean ruin into an escape proof prison. They surrounded your bier with patrols, traps, and guardians.

You awaken in a small room at the bottom of this prison maze, a room with no doors. You are as weak as a newborn babe, your magical powers drained from you.

Getting out of this room won't be easy; escaping from the rest of prison may prove near impossible. But you are undaunted. You want revenge and the amulet back!

Over 400 adventurers developed by Wizardry players form the cadre of Werdna's jailers. Your favorite character may have been selected for this honor. If you meet him, show no mercy...he surely won't!

WARNING: EXPERT LEVEL SCENARIO!

The Return of Werdna is an EXPERT level scenario for experienced Wizardry players ONLY. Novices will rapidly become totally frustrated - this game is VERY difficult! First–time Wizardry players should play the first scenario, Proving Grounds of the Mad Overlord, before playing any other Wizardry game.

Note: Although not required to play the game, the manual included with Proving Grounds of the Mad Overlord will be very useful to have around while playing The Return of Werdna.

The Special Effects Department

Each brand of computer has its own unique features. Your Apple II is no exception. The Apple II version of Wizardry has been specially programmed to take advantage of some of these features.

Pauses for Thought

Occasionally the program pauses to allow you to read messages. Although this delay is adjustable (by pressing 2 when in the Maze), experienced players will often want no time delay at all. Pressing Ctrl-S when the program is pausing will end the pause immediately. If you are playing on an Apple IIe, IIc or IIgs computers, you can also press either of the Apple keys on either side of the space bar. If you get tired of pressing Ctrl-S, you can press Ctrl-O to switch all the pauses off and on. These features are especially handy during long combats.

Sounding Off

There are times (2 A.M. in particular) when you need to play in silence. Pressing Ctrl-B will switch the sound on and off.

Thanks for the Memories

If you are playing on an Apple II with more than 64k of memory, the extra RAM is used as a cache. Each time you start the game, the most important parts of the game will be loaded into the extra memory so that it can be retrieved without accessing the disk drive. Wizardry supports the built-in extra memory in the Apple IIe, IIc and IIgs as well as some third-party memory expansion boards.

Dear Wizardry Purchaser:

Thank you for acquiring the most widely acclaimed game program for the micro-computer. It's popularity is attested to by Wizardry's long term standing as the number one program of its class. Among the reasons for Wizardry's great standing is its exceptional long term playing value.

It has come to our attention that some software vendors are marketing so-called "cheat programs". These products allow you to create characters of arbitrary strength and ability.

While it may seem appealing to use these products, we urge you not to succumb to the temptation. It took more than four years of careful adjustment to properly balance Wizardry. These products tend to interfere with this subtle balance and may substantially reduce your playing pleasure. It would be akin to playing chess with additional queens, or poker with all cards wild.

It has also come to our attention that some of these programs are unreliable and may even destroy the data. While we repair or replace inoperative disks free within 30 days of purchase, or for a nominal fee of $7.50 anytime thereafter, we will not do so for disks damaged by a cheat program.

With kind regards and our best wishes for many, many hours of fun and pleasure.

Yours truly,

Andrew Greenberg Robert Woodhead
